

Sahaja Yoga Meditation Guide – Health Benefits on Body, Mind and Spirit

Deblina Biswas Yoga

The 5th of May 1970 saw a woman dedicate her life to the cause of humanity and finally find the path which leads to unlocking the spiritual gates of humankind. Mataji's life story scripted an innate awakening from her own primordial energy. The realization dawned on her that she had to share her surreal experience with everyone who was seeking truth and spiritual awakening. She listened to the cry of her soul and spread the word on Sahaja Yoga, by travelling far and wide. Her free sermons benefited a lot of people who were trying to seek happiness and peace.

What is Sahaja yoga meditation? Sahaja Yoga meditation is a technique that can bring forth innate awakening leading to self-realization. The word Sahaja has two connotations. One of the meaning is 'spontaneous' and the other means 'born with you.' It is usually an energy form that flows within you. Yoga also means uniting together. So, SahajaYoga brings you closer to your inner self.

When do the kundalini forces integrate? Just when the individual consciousness unifies with the collective consciousness. The integration of the kundalini forces brings together peace and balance within individuals.

The Beginning of Sahaja Yoga Meditation

Mataji explains the essence of Sahaja Yoga Meditation in a beautiful way, it helps your soul bloom just like the seeds sprout and the flowers bloom. We witness its magic, but we find it difficult to unravel the mystery of the happening. We know the miracle happens because of the all-encompassing power of Divine love. The divine love is within us too, we just need to tap into it and find out how it flows within us.

The connection can only be made with the mains. When we are able to make that connection, we will be able to witness the beauty and the potential of the dynamic result. This result is a dynamic one and not a mental one, we must realize that.

Sahaja Yoga meditation technique emanates from self-realization when you pursue in accessible aspirations or distant goals; there are chances of disappointment, and a Guru has a group of disciples under him, who usually train, cleanse their inner self, and also get coerced to go through a growth process in life.

Things have undergone a sea change in today's times; instead of seeking a guru, Mataji calls it the blossom time where people try to be their own Gurus as they begin to find their spontaneity going through the entire journey of self-realization. She has found a method to do this.

This form of yoga does not require an instructor. It is more about a self-journey and being aware of your inner self with the help of both meditation and Kundalini Yoga.

How to Do Sahaja Yoga Meditation

The first step in Sahaja Yoga requires raising your Kundalini every time you meditate. You need to follow some basic affirmations to raise the Kundalini. The affirmations can either be made by looking at Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi's picture or without looking at her picture. It depends on individual preference.

In order to begin Sahaja yoga meditation, you need to sit in a comfortable position on the floor and gently close your eyes. The procedure encompasses a nine-step affirmation, each step requires you to have different hand placements on the body. This is how you can carry out the whole procedure,

- Place your right hand on your heart and ask this to yourself ‘Mother, am I the spirit?’
- In the next step you need to lower your hand to the lungs and ask yourself, ‘Mother, am I, my own master?’
- In the next step, you would lower your hand to your hip and ask, ‘Mother, please give me the pure knowledge.’
- Raise your hand right up to your lung and say, ‘Mother, I am my own master.’
- Raise it to your heart next and say the words, ‘Mother, I am the spirit.’
- Get your hands closer to the back of your neck and say, ‘Mother, I am not guilty.’
- Raise your hands to your forehead and say, ‘Mother, I forgive everyone.’
- Use your hands and raise it to the back of your head and say, ‘Mother, please forgive me for whatever my wrongdoing.’
- Place your hands on the top of your head and say, ‘Mother, please give me my self-realization.’

How does Sahaja Yoga Meditation Work?

Inside our system, we experience a spontaneous awakening. This knowledge about the interflow of energies that regulate our being has been the best kept secret for centuries.

The centralised center consists of seven major energy centers; these energy centers are known as ‘chakras’ or three channels. This system is actually the center focus of our well-being, happiness, and self-realization. Another more precious secret is the knowledge which is hidden right at the base of our spinal cord, waiting for the right moment to rise, enlighten us, and grant us all our innate beauty, power, and strength, the event has been defined as the greatest achievement for a human being in all the ancient scriptures.

This secret energy is called by many names but it is most frequently known as ‘Kundalini.’ The word ‘kundalini’ comes from the Sanskrit word ‘kunda’ which means ‘coil’).

“The Spirit is like the firm axis at the very centre of a wheel. If our attention reaches the immovable firm axis at the very centre of the wheel of our existence (which is constantly moving), we become enlightened by the Spirit, the source of inner peace, and reach a state of complete calm and self-knowledge.”- Sri Mataji

Meditation is that deep sense of peace which we acquire when our mind is calm, silent and yet when all our senses are amazingly alert. The power of meditation is immense as it has the capacity to take us to a greater state of awareness that will help us fulfil our real human potential in every way.

The benefits of Sahaja yoga are so many that one does not know where to start. Usually, people who are not quite satisfied with life are the ones who benefit most from Sahaja yoga, the most. They are not quite satisfied with materialism and want to get much more out of life.

The reason for the dissatisfaction lies in the fact that they are seeking something beyond materialism, something that will make them break out of all the shackles that bound them, the attachments and bondages of life.

After acquiring self-realization, we get connected to the all-pervading divine power which takes care of us. We get embroiled in life, feeling burdened, unable to deal with the ups and down of life. The freedom from this bondage provides an unflinching joy which defines our Spirit.

Benefits of Sahaja Yoga through Sahaja Yoga Treatment

The difference we feel after Sahaja Yoga Treatment is immense! We gradually feel the difference in our mind, body, and spirit as the time goes on.

1. Sahaja yoga treatment protects us from illness

The subtle energy system in our body helps govern our body; as soon as there is an imbalance, we awaken the dormant primordial energy Kundalini and it starts awakening the subtle energy or the centres (chakras) within us. This will help heal, balance, and rectifies and nourishes the subtle energy centres (chakras) through a simple cleansing technique, which is usually taught in Sahaja Yoga.

Once you can restore your center and you balance the energy, your health improves and your immunity increases, keeping at bay all kinds of illnesses. As Shri Mataji explains, “Once you are properly established, you don’t have to worry about your health at all.”

The health benefits of Sahaja Yoga are not merely a figment of somebody’s imagination but have been substantiated by medical doctors and psychologists who have backed their findings by clinical studies and research.
